The cyan box is the cut line, any art that bleeds should extend passed this line to the edge of the document but keep in mind the cyan line will be the final trim size.

There should be no text outside of the magenta margin so that it does not come close to the cyan cut line.